Free, confidential, impartial help, advice and support for Parents and Carers of children and young people with Special Educational Needs

Working together in partnership is better than working alone

Do you need our help?

- Does your child or young person have special educational needs?
- Do you need someone to talk to about your concerns?
- Do you need information about the education system?
- Do you need help to approach your child's school, or attend a meeting?
- Are you finding it difficult to put your views across?
- Are you confused by the special needs paperwork?
- Would you like to meet others in a similar situation?
- Do you want information about other sources of help and advice?

We can help in all of these situations and many others

How can Parent Partnership help?

We ask parents and carers to approach us directly by contacting either Office number (see back page).

We have support workers in your area who can discuss your queries over the phone or meet with you. We can arrange home visits if necessary.

What are our aims?

- To encourage co-operative working to ensure that children's individual needs are met.
- To help parents, carers and children have their views heard and valued.
- To provide information and support so that parents and carers can make informed choices for their child.

“Partnership... is important in enabling children and young people with special educational needs to achieve their potential.”
